In its final post on the Movember website thanking staff and supporters, Evotech promise to match fund its staff fundraising total.

Evotech staff raise funds for Movember

Engineers and office staff based in the North and the South have been supporting the Movember initiative by growing moustaches and raising both awareness and funds for the men's health charity.

Staff at Evotech, the building maintenance supplier, raised £1,220, which the company match funded, bringing the final amount raised to £2,440.

Staff ran a competition for the best moustache at the end of the month long campaign which was judged by Evotech's female staff. Winner, Contracts Manager, Roberto Varela, who grew an amazing 'trucker mo', took home £40 of Amazon vouchers. The best fundraiser prize, was awarded to North West Mobile Engineer, David Greatbanks, who raised an amazing £300 with Roberto coming in second having raised a notable £210.

Managing Director, Mark O'Grady, says, "Evotech's main aim in supporting this movement was to help raise awareness amongst our staff and their families about the health issues which are the four main causes of death in men.

Having grown a moustache this Movember, I know first-hand what a real commitment it is, and I'd like to thank all those who took on the challenge and supported colleagues. It shows what we can do as a collective and I hope we will support the charity again next year."

Movember raises awareness and money to invest in men's health initiatives for prostate cancer, testicular cancer, poor mental health and suicide prevention, which are the four main causes of premature death in men. During Movember 2019, 400,000 men and women around the world came together to support the charity. For more information visit www.movember.com
